MR. VANDERBILT'S OFFER

He Wants the New York, New Haven and Hariford Road.

The Negotiations for Its Control Said to Have Been Began Prior to His Enropean Trip-The Proposition Contains a Guarantee of 8 Per Cent on the Capital Stock of the Line.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 .- William K. Vanferbilt, on his return from a two months cruise to Mediterranean ports which he be gan on his steam yacht Valiant on Monday. may complete another colossal achievement in railway financiering, the first steps of which, it was said last night, were entered upon a few days before Mr. Vanderbilt sailed.

A director of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company is believed to have taken to New Haven and Boston on Saturday last an informal offer from Mr. Vanderbilt which indicates that the New York, New Haven and Hartford system may become later a part of the New York Central system. Mr. Vanderbilt told the director, it is said, that any close observer should have no trouble in noting the tendency of railway consolidation movements in the trunk line territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio River, They meant that the Central system was in position to dominate the Eastern situation, and would do so, and that it might, Haven and Hartford directors to consider a liberal offer from those in control of the Central. This director, whose influence with his associates in the board is a potent one, said that if the offer were large enough it would be kindly considered, and he asked what the Connecticut and Boston he asked what the Connecticut and Boston people might expect.

It was suggested that a guarantee of 8 per cent on the capital stock might be considered. That is as far as the conference advanced, it is said, and the director went away to talk it over with his friends in New England, with the conviction that such an arrangement would be favorably regarded by the Rockefeller and Morgan interests in the road.

The fact that J. Pierpont Morgan and Willian Rockefeller are directors of both the New York Central and the New H. von the New Tork Central and the New A chi is regarded as signifying that the important interests represented by them would not be averse to a plan for bringing the two roads into closer relations on terms not disadvantageous to the New Haven. The latter company covers the entire field of southern New England, but its directors cannot fail to have noted the trend of vallway affairs in the Eastern States, which in the minds of well-informed observers points to the ultimate control by the New York Central of all the New England roads. A year or two ago the Vanderbit interests secured control of the Rutland Railroad, the plans for the extension and development of which have not yet, however, been fully worked out. Within the last fortnight the stockholders of the New York Central and the Boston and Albany have ratified the action of their respective boards of directors in making a long lease is regarded as signifying that the importan have ratified the action of their respective boards of directors in making a long lease of the Boston and Albany to the Central, although the lease cannot become operative until sanctioned by the general court of Massachusetts, a sanction which is opposed by the Massachusetts State Commissioners for the Fitchburg Railroad stock, on the ground that the lease may be hurtful to the interests of the Fitchburg Road.

The Fitchburg, which at one time seemed likely to come under Vanderbilt control, is now in negotiation with the Boston and Maine with the object of having the latter road lease it. The Boston and Maine al-

Maine with the object of having the latter road legge it. The Boston and Maine al-ready virtually owns the Maine Central, and if it secures the Fitchburg, a step which would cut off the Rutland Road from its hope of obtaining a Boston con-nection, it is belived in Wall Street that the Boston and Maine itself would before long be taken into the New York Central system.

Rumors that such a move was in contemplation were current only recently, be dealed by the president of the Bos and Maine, but its execution is believed in this city to be only a question of time.

The New York, New Haven and Harrferd system operates a total of 1,464 miles, made up of 417 miles of track owned by the company, 1,025 miles of leased lines and twenty-two miles of line operated under trackage arrangements. Through securing control of a large number of formerly independent roads— the most important being the Oid Colony Railroad system, which in February, 1893. It leased for ninety-nine years, and the New England Railroad Company, a ninety-nine-year lease of which it effected on July 1, 1898, the New Haven company now has a network of railways covering the whole southern part of New England Its terminal arrangements at this end of the line, however, are not believed to be as satisfactory as its management could desire, for, while it has extensive and valuable freight terminal at Morris Dock, near the junction of the Harlem River and Long Island Scand, it is dependent upon the New York Central system for a direct entrance into New York city for its pas-senger traffic, it's trains using the tracks f the New York and Harlem road for the twelve miles from Woodlawn Junction, the western end of the New Haven line, to the Grand Central Station.

This fact, it is pointed out, may be an added consideration tending to dispose the stockholders of the New York, New Haven and Hartford te look with favor upon such a proposition as that which Mr. Vander-bilt is said to have in mind for submission to them.

The stock of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company is an 8 per cent dividend payer. Its range in 1899 was between 198 and 222. It is an "inactive stock," and the most recent quotation for it is 213 bid, 217 asked.

A New Haven stockholder of the road

A New Haven stockholder of the road aid last night at the Waldorf:
"The absorption is coming sure enough, and it's coming in a hurry. I believe that and it's coming sin a hurry. I believe that if Mr. Vanderbilt suggested an 8 per cent guarantee as the price of the New Haven shares the Central people would get the system in the course of a few months. The 8 per cent guarantee would make the shares exceedingly valuable to put away while the years roll by as the Central would be in exceedingry valuable to put away while the years roll by, as the Central would be in position, through evil as well as through good report, to make good the guarantee." No one in a position of authority at the Grand Central offices would talk about the mooted arrangement yesterday. President Callaway is out of the city, and Senator Depew will not return to New York from Washington until tomorrow.
